EDITORIAL COMMENT.

There was a mean attempt to drag

the Hon. George H. Pendleton into the Belknap scandal, but it proved abortive. Some politicians are mean and have enough to attempt anything.

Mr. Pendleton never paid any money to Mrs. Belknap for any purpose whatever.

If it be true that Mrs. Belknap takes her fall and shame without much grief, we feel less inclined to extend her any sympathy than we would under a different state of case. If recent developments are not sufficient to drag even a heart of stone down to the depths of humility, we cannot see what would.

Mardi Gras day at Louisville, was had on the people there, as the papers say that over 3,000 of them had the influenza in a few days after the celebration. This disease seems to be pre-valing all over the State. The sudden changes in the weather, and the remarkable winter and spring, have caused it, the doctors say.

We remember no year, of our not very long life, to have witnessed and read of so many destructive tornadoes.

Over all the length and breadth of the land, we hear of fearful storms every few weeks, which are destructive alike

to property and human and animal life. We are thankful that these strange seasons come so seldom.

Two Frankfort gentlemen, Rev.

Green Clay Smith, and Mr. J. R.

Graham, have obtained the right from the Legislature, to use the old resi-voir in the Capital grounds, as a proposing place for California Salmon.

We commend the enterprise of these gentlemen, to others, who have equal

if not greater facilities for such an undertaking. While the question is being agitated, let the people act.

Some of the Radical writers say that Mr. Blackburn, one of the Belknap investigating Committee, acted

THE EDITOR'S CONFIDENTIAL.

The stars of time have faded their spray

Against our jangling public world

One hundred times, more than that great day

That Freedom's banner was unfurled

Above the ranks where heroes stood

Prepared to die at Freedom's call

Which rang out over time and space

From great old Independence Hall

Reveries, with hearts as true,

They dashed through the galling yoke—

"Why, Uncle John, how do you do?"

"This morning I have all the folks"

"Glad to hear they're all well"—and with

The most of stout and honest

Behind the right—"No, Mr. Smith,

Your papers are not printed yet."

They met, and blushed, and bent the knee

To kneeling from a foreign shore;

Their cry was "Death or Liberty!"

"Come back, you run, and shut the door!"

"War's thunder called: 'Columbia's call!'"

Were voiced, and lofty mountains shook—

"A quarrel, sir, will advertise"

Your lot someone's pocket-hole!"

And fields were dyed with many a drop

Of crimson gore—'Tis but a better shop

"Get shaved!" you'll find a better shop

This side, the second door below."

"I'd love, until the ground was wet

And water running through the streets"

"Not here!" my good man said—"No!"

Tell them to get upon the street!"

They thought—"No!"—like the men of Troy,

And drove the British from our shores

That we today—"Yes!" might enjoy

The peace—"No!"—the other shore!"

The peace—"Where possible do, is that that!"—Now let the 'devil' come,

I've got for him, and it's his!"

The death of Freedom!"

THE CHARM OF MARRIED LIFE.

In that chair yonder—not the one you see lie upon, but the one beside you, closer was seated a sweet beel-

ing girl, with pretty little feet lying out upon the hearth, a bit of lace running around the swelling throat, the hair

parted to a charm over a forehead fair

as any of her dreams; and if you could reach an arm around that chair back, without fear of giving offense, and suffer your fingers to play idly with those curls that escape down the neck;

and if you could clasp with your hand

those little white taper fingers of hers,

which lie so temptingly within reach,

and so, talk softly and low in the presence of the blaze, while the hours slip away without your knowledge, and the winter winds whistle unheeded for;

if in short, you were no bachelor, but the husband of that sweet image, would it not be far more pleasant than a cold, single night sitting counting the sticks, reckoning the length of the blaze, and the height of the falling snow.

Surely imagination would be stronger and purer if it could have the playful fancies of dawning womanhood to delight it. All told would be torn from mind-labor if but another heart

grew into the present soul, quickening

it, charming it, cheering it, bidding

it ever God speed. Her face would make halo rich as a rainbow—a stop of all such noxious things as we lonely would call trouble. Her smiles would remove the bluntest of crowded cares,

and darkness that now sends you dependent in your solitary chair for days together, wearing bitter fancies,

dreaming bitter dreams, would grow

light and thin and spread and float

away—chased by the beloved smile.

Your friend, poor fellow, dies—never mind; that gentle clasp of her fingers, as she steals behind you—telling you not to sleep—telling you to be strong. Your sister, sweet one, is dead—

THE "much abused and grantly persecuted Babcock," has been again suspected. The Judiciary Committee of Congress, have called Gen. Kilpatrick to give testimony before them, and it is said he will swear that one Butterfield offered him $25,000 to secure for him an appointment. Kilpatrick "mentioned the matter to Babcock," who got the letter from him, and soon afterward, Butterfield was appointed to the coveted position. The innocent, guileless "Bal" Sybil should not be so much persecuted. The press should let up on him. They have been down on him too long already.

Mr. PENDLETON, on reaching Washington City, in speaking of the rumor against him, which reflected upon his honor, remarked to a reporter that he intended to "crush the thing between the eyes." If he should get Morrissey to do the "crushing," we would not like to be the "thing."

The Boards of Trade of Cincinnati and some of the Northwestern cities are en route to Georgia, and they will be carried over that great Southern State by the Atlanta Board of Trade. This is the way to "bridge the Gulf."

CATCHES the "Infection" from our far more pretentious cities, Chicago and Louisville, our married people, nearly a dozen in number, have testified their faith in divorce in our coming April Court.

THE Ministers and members of Tates Creek Association, will meet in the Baptist Church, in Stanford, on Tuesday, March 28th, 1876, at 10 o'clock. A. M. Rev. A. P. Booker, D. D. will preach the introductory sermon.

LETTIE WITTE S., a son of Dr. P. W. Logan, fell a victim to the prevailing scourge among children, Scarlet fever, on last Thursday night. That was the fifth death from the disease in our town and county, out of over twenty cases.

THE windy month of March is upon us, which gives the ground and trees a thorough blowing. However much, our discomfort may be, such winds are essential to the earth, as they mellow the soil and render it all the more tillable. Hats may blow off, trees blow down, but still there is good in the troublesome breeze.

MR. KACPMAN, the efficient postmaster at Hotonsville, told us last Monday, that he anticipated another singular raid upon his office last Saturday night, but, thinking discretion the better part of valor, the thief did not come. He did well.

Five persons satisfactory and honorable to all parties concerned, E. R. Chvancik did not dispose of his stock of goods to H. C. Bright, as announced in this paper of last week. Mr. Chvancik will be glad to meet his friends and customers.

ROBERT, dirty, and poverty-stricken were the parents and children who passed through our town last Monday, on their way to another State from North Carolina. The father said he had heard of better things in the West than he had ever enjoyed in his native State.

THE HICKER Bros., Jesse H. and Richard W., have lately formed themselves into a law firm, and now solicit the patronage of the people of Lincoln and adjoining counties. They are well known and worthy young men, and we wish them great success in their chosen profession.

RAY, G. O. BARNES, will offer for sale to the highest bidder, on our next County Court day, his really handsome and desirable country house, only a short distance from town. It is peculiarly suited to any professional man or other person who desires to live near a thriving inland village.

We were shown a few days ago, by one of our Stanford housekeepers, eleven elegant buttons that were taken from the garment of a hen. Some of these buttons were as large as a nickel, and the lot were sufficient to fill the entire gizzard. It is supposed that her henship, laboring under an unusual illness, had mistaken the buttons for grains of corn.

THE Legislature has passed a bill authorizing the Circuit Judge of this District, to appoint a Clerk for the Lincoln County Court. Hereafter, the Judge of that court, as of all other Quarterly Courts in the State, we learn, have been their own Clerks, and Judge Lytle says he is able to do his own clerking. If so, there is no necessity for a special Clerk.

ONE desires in his abandoned old hopes of obtaining a supply of that luxury from home sources the present year. Those of our citizens who desire to obtain it the coming summer, will have to look to the cities for a supply. No doubt we have some enterprising dealer who will have it shipped here for sale, but in that event, the price will be unusually high.

THE Rev. V. E. Kirtley, for some time past, pastor of the Baptist Church here, has resigned, to act as agent for Domestic and Indian Missions. Mr. Kirtley was much beloved by his congregation, who gave him up with great reluctance. We are glad to know that he will not leave us entirely, but will still have his home near town. His business will, however, require him to be absent a good deal.

THE election for Judge of the Court of Common Pleas in this new district, will come off on the 25th day of May, next, which will be on Saturday. The Democrats in the counties which compose this district, have never, in the aggregate, had a majority of more than 600. Hence, it will behoove whoever may offer for the office on the Democratic ticket, to best himself. It may be to his interest and his party's to do so.

THE SENNY SOUTH—By far the most meritorious literary paper that comes to this office, is the Senny South, published by J. H. Sells, at Atlanta, Georgia. It far exceeds the New York Ledger, in both its original and selected articles, and if more attention were given to its engravings, it would present a much handsomer appearance. It is about the only real literary paper published in the South, and our people should see that it is generously patronized.

LAST Sunday was a bad day. During the evening, it became cold, and before night, snow was falling. During the night, the ground and water froze. Many buds and blossoms on fruit trees and shrubs, froze, but on inspection, they were found not to be killed. As this is a strange and not-to-be-accounted-for season, we have a slight hope that some fruit may be left to those living in such parts of the Union as have been deprived of a supply for several years. We are among the unfortunate.

TWO ELEGANT keepers who led early and sleep very soundly, should not venture the traveler who comes up to their gate, and, being unable to awaken them within a reasonable time, cuts the rope which fastens the pole across the road, and then passes on without paying toll. It often occurs that the traveler cannot afford to wait the arrival of a sleepy gate keeper, and we are led to believe that the few people, comparatively, who travel at night, should not be delayed by a closed toll gate, as some of our citizens have been, recently.

WE saw a teamster, whose wagon had stalled on the Mason's Gap road, dragging his wagon back to town on three wheels, with a rail under the back axle. He was not a Christian man, judging from the manner in which he endeavored the road surveyer. The fact is, the owner of that road is not to blame, from the fact that it would require at least $1,000 in cash, to put that much-used highway in such condition as to prevent the breaking down of vehicles loaded, or even unloaded, at certain times of the year.

WE would advise our neighbor of the Harrodsburg Observer, to go slow in advertising for Layd & Co's. (the Map men) unless they get the cash before the work is done. We bit at the bait they threw out, about sending us a map, etc., a year ago, but marked paper after marked paper, and several written requests for the fulfillment of their promise, occasioned no response from them. This three a damper on our confidence in our fellow man, and we have long since, unanimously resolved that Layd & Co's. are humbugs.

WE were shown an autograph letter of H. Clay, written to a once prominent citizen of Stanford, sending word to go to certain slaves were to be offered at public sale under a decree of the Lincoln Circuit Court. He specially mentioned "Lucy and her three children," who were to be sold only to those living in Kentucky, and ordered that they should not be separated. Mr. Clay was the Attorney for the Plaintiff in this case, and authorized to manage the sale as he desired. A kinder master never lived, his acquaintances say, and he would never submit to the separation of the slave mother from her infant children.

THE Court of Appeals affirmed the case of James Robinson vs. Joseph Roper, appealed from the Lincoln Circuit Court. The suit was over the right to establish a pass-way over Roper's lands from one tract of Robinson's to another one. The opinion was delivered by Judge Coffey, and will be of considerable interest to the legal fraternity, and those who may contemplate trying to obtain a similar right of way.

JUDGE OWLEY will hold a special term of the Circuit Court, on the 25th of this month, for the purpose of receiving the bond of the Cumberland and Ohio Railroad Company. That will expedite work on the road, as otherwise, the bond could not have been taken until the regular term of that Court, in August, next. The President and Directors of that road, seem to be in earnest now, about its early completion.

JOHN SMITH, one of our colored barbers, thought he would open a grooming house in his shop, as cutting hair, shaving and shampooing, was rather a dull business at the present time. The case had progressed to the satisfaction of the gamblers, but to the dissatisfaction of the officers of the town and county, and this brought them under arrest. John was tried in Court last Tuesday, and sent on for a full investigation of his offense at our April Court, being allowed to give bail in the sum of $200—in default of which, he was sent to jail. The shavers are more fond of the gaming table than the whites. They seem to have a great passion for it.

It is rumored that the Crooke Brothers, at Lexington, Ky., merchants and miners, offer to arm, equip, and pay the transportation charges from Kentucky to the Black Hills, of fifty good men, who will accompany them to that golden section of our country. After they arrive there, each man can hunt the hidden treasure for himself, and appropriate his findings to his own use. The object of the Crooke's is to have a sufficient force along, to protect their scalp from the hostile tribes of Indians, who are trying to guard their own reservation from the white robbers of the west. The idea is a good one, provided gold can be found there in paying quantities.

SECRET FEARS.—We take pleasure in announcing to the public, after consulting several of our most prominent physicians, that this dreadful scourge is rapidly abating. No new case has occurred for several days, and those who are yet afflicted with it, are recovering. The mortality has been somewhat severe, as there have been five or six deaths out of about twenty-five or more cases of well defined scarlet fever. Others have been, and are yet afflicted with some of the symptoms of the disease, but all recover, no doubt. It is a little singular, that only a few colored people were afflicted with the complaint, and not a single death among them. When the cholera was here in 1873, out of about 20 cases, only two white persons died, both of whom died, all the other cases occurred among the blacks, and the mortality was about equal to that of the present disease. How do scientific physicians account for these things?

A LANCASTER LADY'S INDEMNITY.—We have on exhibition in our office, an Agricultural Wreath, which, for beauty of design, and skillful execution, we hardly be surprised. It was made by Miss Alice T. White, of Lancaster, and reflects great credit, both on her skill and patience. The grain and seed of nearly every thing that grows, are handsomely worked into flowers, the whole forming a most beautiful, and, for ornament, Miss White has been engaged for several months on it, and has great reason to be proud of its production. It is nicely framed, and valued at $30—for which price it can be obtained. Several young men have, however, proposed that it be raffled for, and that 15 chances be taken at $2 per chance. We have received the answer of several, who have taken chances, and expect to complete the list in a few days. A nice present for your sweetheart could hardly be obtained.

DISSENT AND UNWELCOMED DEBATE.—A religious discussion will open at Stanford, Ky., Tuesday morning, 10 o'clock, April 18th, 1876.—In recognition of the Holy Spirit operates immediately, as well as through the written Word. Disputes at times.—2nd. Baptism is for remission of sins. Sincerely yours, J. R. WARRICK.

REV. J. DITZLER, H. D., will preach at the Methodist Church, in Stanford, on Sunday, April 2nd, morning and night. In case of Elder J. R. Sweeney's failure to sustain the agreement above, brother Ditzler will give a series of religious lectures, involving the differences between Methodism and the tenets of the "Current Reformation." The public are cordially solicited to attend. Special invitation is extended to the members of the Christian Church, and in return for their attendance, we promise to urge upon our membership, respectful hearing to any standard authority, who may thereafter represent their cause.

J. R. WARRICK.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP ITEMS.

A CONVENTION of the tobacco raisers in Kentucky, has been called to meet in Louisville, on the 15th of May next.

MA. J. W. HUNTER, of Fayette, sold on February 17th, to Mr. J. W. Coleman, two imported Cotswold ewes, for $70 each.

THOS. MONROVIE, of Bacon Creek Station, Nelson county, has a sow that gave birth to twenty-three pigs one night lately.

A HORSE without hair, has been found in Michigan. The animal is said to be well developed and in good health—mane, tail, and body, are without hair. This bears testimony to the old woolly horse.

CONSIDERABLE quantities of oats, have been sown this week, and gardeners have planted potatoes and other fall-harvest vegetables. The Spring is certainly two weeks in advance of the usual time of its arrival.

MR. I. C. CHANDLER, of Ashland county, arrived at home last week from Georgia and Alabama. He took down 43 head of mules, which he sold, but did not make much money on them. At Fort Lenoir, Ga., on the 23rd inst., he was so unfortunate as to lose from his pocket $1,700 in money.—[Lancaster Standard.]

CAPT. J. M. HUGHES, auctioneer, reports about 100 head of cattle on the market, but no mules, and only a few horses.
